Drama Department to Give O'Neill's 'Ah, Wilderness!'

Eugene O'Neill's bright comedy, "Ah, Wilderness!" under the direction of Dr. Ralph Fulsom, will be presented Mar. 20-23 in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Although O'Neill won four Pulitzer Prizes and a Nobel Prize for tragic dramas, "Ah, Wilderness!" proves that he could produce comedy which continues to delight audiences.

This play, a portrait of the author as an adolescent, takes place on July 4, 1906. It concerns an American family, their humors and vexations. Chief among their problems is Richard, their son, played by Loring Miller. He is a high school senior and a rebel. He reads Swinburne, Shaw, Wilde, and Omar Khayyam; and his mother (Janelle Jensen) worries.

Richard is an anarchist; he hates capitalism. His father (Jerry Eisenhower), the genial editor of a newspaper in the small, sunlit New England town where they live, looks disturbed.

Richard is also passionately in love with a neighbor's daughter (Diana Nelson). The scraps of Swinburne verse he sends her outrage her puritan father (Richard Heinz) who forbids her to see the fervid suitor. Despaired by this attack on him, Richard attempts a fling with a "fast woman" (Maggie Price) but retreats in panic, only to find himself the subject of a halting, embarrassed lecture by his father on the facts of life.

But Richard's damsel manages to prove her devotion at a moonlit rendezvous on the beach, where Richard is himself again.

O'Neill also gives a misty-eyed glance at a touching romance between the gangling boy's maiden aunt (Susan Blakesley) and her ne'er-do-well, tippling swain (Harold Webb), for whose reformation she has been waiting 16 years.

Others in the cast will be Ruth Martin, as Richard's sister, and Roger Mongold and Richard Wilson, as his brothers. Don Folkman, Joel Knutson, John Hoffman, and Carolyn Farber complete the cast of this nostalgic excursion into life. Settings for the play have been designed by Richard Weaver and constructed by his stagecraft class.

When first presented, "Ah, Wilderness!" was an outstanding success for the Theatre Guild. The role of the father, assumed at MSC by Eisenhower, afforded the great George M. Cohan one of his finest roles.

The dean of American drama critics, Brooks Atkinson, of the New York Times, said recently: "In the years since it was originally performed, Mr. O'Neill's only comedy has lost none of its wisdom or humor. Although he is the author of grander plays, he has never written anything so full of affection for the characters . . . An amusing and touching play . . . an unalloyed delight."

AAUP Heads to Attend Meeting at University

Members of the American Association of University Professors have been invited to attend the annual State Conference Saturday at Jefferson City.

Dr. James L. Lowe, state secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Luke L. Boone, local chapter president, expect to attend. The session will be held in the Science Building, Room 304, Lincoln University.

The next campus chapter meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Lower Lakeview Room of the Union. Regular business of the organization will be transacted.

Anne Morgan Reigns As 1968 Tower Queen

Tower Queen Anne Morgan

Miss Anne Morgan, Elliott, Iowa, was crowned Tower Queen Saturday evening at the annual Tower Dance.

A junior majoring in English, Anne was sponsored by Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. She is active in Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, of which she is president; People to People, Kappa Delta Pi, Tower Choir, college chorus, and Panhellenic Council.

Having served on Union Board, Residence Hall Council, and Senior Key steering committee, Anne is now a member of Embers and the English Honor Society, and has attained a grade point of 3.3. She was a finalist in the recent "Best Dressed Coed" contest and was in the preliminaries for Homecoming Queen.

Finalists in the contest were Vicki Baker, Maryville, sponsored by Phi Mu fraternity; Kathy Abersold, St. Joseph, Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority; Mary Potter, Sidney, Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, and Marsha Mundt, St. Louis, Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Miss Baker is active in Phi Mu fraternity and is pledge director this year. The sophomore coed has been a member of Sigma Phi Dolphins, American Chemical Society and Union Board for two years.

Miss Abersold, a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, is now its chaplain. She is active in ACE and Roberta Hall Dorm Council. Kathy is a member of the Wesley Foundation and is counselor in Roberta Hall. She was vice president of her freshman class.

Miss Potter is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, Dorm Council, Alpha Mu Gamma, Kappa Delta Pi, Dialogue, and Book Club. She has been a freshman orientation leader for two years, a member of Tower staff for two years, and a member for three years of AWS, of which she is now president. A college ambassador to Mexico in 1966, Miss Potter has achieved a grade point average of 3.4.

Miss Mundt has received honors as being member of Daughters of Diana, 1967 Tower Queen candidate, and recipient of Alpha Sigma Alpha Improved Scholarship Award. She is active in Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority of which she is now pledge trainer. She has been a member of AWS for three years and is now a member of Union Board.

Richard Heinz as David McComber, forbids Loring Miller from seeing his daughter, Diana Nelson, in a dramatic scene from "Ah Wilderness!"

Teaching Director Reveals Changes

Beginning with the fall semester, all student teaching must be done on an all-day basis, according to Dr. Frank Grispingo, director of student teaching.

"Students need to be involved with their school situations all day in order to make them seem real," Dr. Grispingo said. "They benefit by seeing the school activities of the entire day."

It is felt that student teaching on a half-day schedule does not provide adequate training, Dr. Grispingo explained.

Social Science Department Plans Seminar

The MSC social science department, in cooperation with the social studies section of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association, will host a conference for high school students entitled "Background to Understanding" Wednesday.

More than 150 area high school students, selected by their social studies teachers, will attend the conference devoted to a study of liberalism and conservatism in America today and how they are related to issues in the upcoming election year.

Introductory talks on liberalism and conservatism will be given by Mr. Marlin Henderson and Dr. Berndt G. Angman of the MSC Social Science Division.

Following the general introduction to the topic, students will break up into smaller groups for discussion of such areas as open housing, the war on poverty, revolt of the younger generation, Vietnam, guaranteed annual income and the proposed surtax.

MSC social science majors will serve as discussion leaders for the various small groups.

Harold Johnson, '64, social science instructor at Savannah High School, is president of the social science section of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers Association.

IMB Provides Modern Teaching Materials

Bureau Staff Processes Orders

By Joe Fleming

In a college curriculum, it is necessary to provide many services to assist both teacher and student in better fulfilling the functions of their positions. This isn't always accomplished to the nth degree, but at MSC, various services are provided that are frequently overlooked.

For example, the Instructional Materials Bureau (IMB), under the direction of Mr. Luke L. Boone, gives specialized service with teaching materials to teachers in training, teachers in service, and supervisors and administrators in Northwest Missouri.

The functions of IMB are: (1) to be of any assistance possible to the college faculty in the development and use of instructional material; (2) to help student teachers adapt instructional materials to classroom instruction; (3) to encourage the use of instructional materials in the Horace Mann School as an example of a superior school; (4) to help the public schools in the MSC district with instructional materials problems, and (5) to develop the bureau as a service unit.

One of the objectives which the college has adopted for teacher education is for the prospective teacher "to become acquainted with the wealth of materials which are available for instructional purposes." One of the ways of educating superior teachers is to have before them good teachers using instructional materials.

To meet the needs of students and teachers in Northwest Missouri, the bureau acts as a media depository for Project Communicate and a distribution outlet for its more than 800 instructional films. This means that whenever a teacher, whether on the grade, high school, or college level, in the 18 surrounding counties requires a specific film for a certain class instruction, all he has to do is mail or phone in a request. IMB will send the material requested free of charge, requiring only that it be returned promptly after use.

Before coming to MSC 10

Filling an instructional materials order for Mrs. Betty Koerble of the Speech department (third from left) are Mrs. Judy Fenster and Miss Jan Wilkes. In the background, Mrs. Judy Jennings and Mr. Luke Boone, director of IMB, complete the final phase of mailing requested films to neighboring schools.

years ago, Mr. Boone was director of audio-visual aids at Eastern Oregon College. Besides his duties as director of IMB, he is a reference librarian, and teaches audio-visual aids. He received his BA degree from Iowa State Teachers College, and his MA at Iowa University. He is active in local, state and national audio-visual organizations, is past president of the Missouri State chapter, and is presently on its executive committee.

Since he arrived on campus, IMB has grown from a one-room office and a small storeroom into one of the largest service facilities on the college grounds, utilizing office space, reading rooms for instructional material, shipping rooms, film preview facilities, storerooms for film, and a fully equipped maintenance shop for setting up and repairing technical equipment. The department is also responsible for scheduling the lower level auditorium for class viewing, recordings and instructional purposes.

Acting as head technician and assistant to Mr. Boone, is Mr. Richard Houston, a BS degree graduate of MSC. He is in charge of operating and maintaining the sophisticated television equipment used for the video taping of basketball and football games and the taping of certain classes for instructional purposes.

An aid to Mr. Boone and Mr. Houston is Mrs. Judy Fenster, who sees that the resource center supplies any material requested. To accomplish this, 20 college students are employed part-time to inspect, pack, address, and mail film, work as projectionists for the showing of films on campus and as technicians for radio and television tapings.

The bureau also has on file, workbooks, teaching manuals, courses of study from many school systems of the United States, a picture file, resource units, and many other items useful in grade and high school classes.

Delta Zeta Inducts Fall Semester Initiates

Delta Zeta social sorority held its initiation of fall pledges Feb. 25, in the chapter room.

Inductees include Donna Bratcher, Hamilton; Judy Cook, St. Joseph; Linda Harris, Hopkins; Marcia Keeton, Redfield, Iowa; Cindy Reed, Cameron; and Glenda Thompson, Bedford, Iowa, all freshmen. Melanie Lott, a junior from St. Joseph, was the only upper classman that went active.

Senate Considers Club Laws, Hears Complaints, Proposals

The consideration of two new campus organizations was among the business of the MSC Student Senate in its session Feb. 29.

Dr. Frank Grube and Gail Weiderholt proposed an English honor society. The organization will be open to all English majors and minors with a 3.3 grade point average in English courses.

A constitution for a proposed journalism honorary, Pi Delta Epsilon, was presented for approval by Fred Beavers, representing the Northwest Missourian editorial board.

The laws of the Book Fund Committee, sometimes confused with the Book Club, was another order of business. The Senate Constitution Committee, in evaluating the organization's proposed constitution, found it necessary to list 16 questions of confusion concerning the document. No student representative was present.

The ESP Club reached a final acceptance by the Senate by a unanimous approval of its constitution.

In new business, Senator Jim Neal mentioned several complaints by students in regard to inconvenience caused by the business office. Students reported they were finding it necessary to adjust their budgets when checks did not arrive on time.

In other Senate business it was reported that SDS, an unrecognized student group, was meeting in campus buildings. No action was taken.

Dr. James Lowe Receives Award

Dr. James L. Lowe, associate professor of sociology, was awarded the 1967 Distinguished Service Award by Ed DeMeulenaere recently at the annual Maryville Jaycee dinner.

Dr. Lowe received the award because of his outstanding work as a civic leader. He has been a dedicated worker for the progress and improvement of Maryville and Northwest Missouri State College since he moved here in 1959.

A sponsor of People to People and Young Democrats on campus, Dr. Lowe is president of the Maryville Community Betterment Committee. His services have been donated as a member of the board of directors of the Nedaway County Chapter of the Red Cross, the United Campaign of Nedaway County of which he is president, the Boy Scouts of America, the Missouri Archeological Society, the Maryville Garden Club, and Rotary International.

Dr. Lowe was named State "Man of Achievement" in 1966, and is a member of the Maryville Planning and Zoning board.

LSD Expert to Speak On Psychedelic Drugs

Dr. Sydney Cohen, an expert on LSD, will present a lecture at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Union Ballroom.

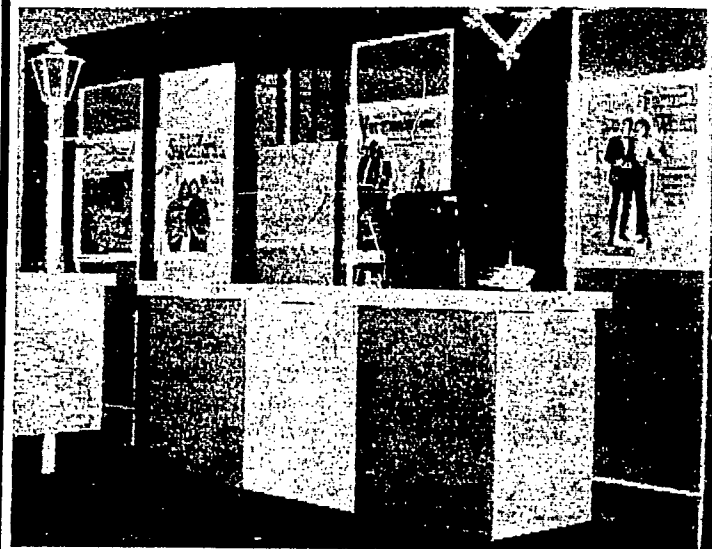

Dr. Cohen is chief of the psychiatry service at Wadsworth Veterans Administration Hospital in Los Angeles and associate professor of medicine, UCLA. He has received degrees in pharmacy from Columbia University and in medicine from Bonn University.

Dr. Cohen has been the leading researcher on LSD for 13 years and has written two books on the subject.

All student and faculty members are invited to attend Dr. Cohen's lecture on psychedelic drugs, which is being sponsored by the Union Board.

ESP Expert Forsees 'Nixon as President'

"We all have extra sensory perception in different degrees," maintains Russ Burgess, noted lecturer on ESP.

Speaking before a capacity crowd in the Union Ballroom last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Burgess claimed ESP will "never be harnessed or controlled. It has no governing criteria, for it is not a science . . . but an art form."

After 21 years of experimentation, Mr. Burgess ascertains to be 85 per cent correct in his predictions. He forecasts the next president of the United States will be Mr. Richard Nixon with Mr. Charles Percy of Illinois as vice president. In the past 20 years, he has erred only once in his presidential predictions.

A sealed, notorized envelope sent to Mr. Bob Dickey of the Union Board one week ago by the ESP expert was opened at the assembly. It contained his prediction headline, "Romney Gives Up in New Hampshire." His forecasting proved correct.

Three factors are employed in the attainment of ESP, according to Mr. Burgess. They are psychological trickery, power of suggestion, and sensory cues. His demonstrations were aided by his use of situation humor used to keep the audience relaxed. ESP lies in relaxed, pre-conscious thought.

A noted parapsychologist in the fields of hypnosis and ESP, he has appeared on various television programs, including the Ed Sullivan Show and the Mike Douglas Show.

Art Major Presents Exhibit

In his first MSC exhibition, senior art major, Terry Twigg is presenting a series of works in several media in the exhibition hall of the Fine Arts Building.

In the picture above, Twigg is standing before a brightly colored oil painting which remains unnamed. He is holding a sculpture in oil and clay, which is also a part of the exhibit. Over 15 works are presented in the showing.

Twigg anticipates sending his works to the second annual All-Missouri Art Festival, which will be held later this spring at Cottey College, Nevada.

After graduation, Twigg plans to teach high school art before returning to graduate school. He has studied here three years and two years at the Fort Dodge Junior College in his hometown, Fort Dodge, Iowa. His two-week exhibition will end Saturday night.

International Students From Lebanon . . .

Note Abundance, Rich Soil, Beauty Social Mobility of Host Country

After going through catalogues from many parts of the United States, Sami Itani decided to attend MSC. A year later, Sami Mirza went through a similar process and they became the only Lebanese students on campus.

Salim, a senior majoring in chemistry and minoring in biology, hopes to attend graduate school after obtaining his BS degree from MSC. He has three brothers and four sisters living in the capital city of Beirut.

Electrical engineering is Sami's major, but he plans to finish his BS degree requirements at Iowa State University in Ames. He has one sister and three brothers, one of whom completed his schooling in West Berlin and is now living in Detroit.

Although they had never met before coming to school at MSC, the two Lebanese students have similar backgrounds. They both attended a seven-year high school which gave an education equal to that of a freshman in college. While they were interested in furthering their education, they preferred to study in the English language — hence their decision to come to the United States.

When asked about their social customs in Lebanon, the men said people in the United States seem to have the idea they live in tents in a desert area and ride camels, but this is entirely wrong. Western attire and modern buildings are evident throughout Lebanon. The apartment house system is used extensively because of the small land area.

TKE Auxiliary Meets, Inducts New Members

The Daughters of Diana, affiliated with Delta Nu Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon recently tapped 14 new members.

The new members are Charlotte Cox, Marilyn Chavannes, Marilee Neuberger, JoEllen Jobusch, Susie Ford, Kathy Ross, Barb Wirt, Rachel Templeman, Mary Beth McKinney, Pam Cannon, Renee Watsbaugh, Holly Phillips, Martha Howitt, and Barb McAvoy.

In discussing geographical data about their home country, the international students said that the mountains of Lebanon are comparable to those of Colorado. The winter climate of the coastal plains is similar to that of Florida or California, with citrus production equal to that of the United States.

"The Mediterranean Sea surrounds the country from end to end. During the winter months it is possible to swim in the morning in calm, warm sea water, and a half hour later be skiing down the side of a mountain," according to Sami.

The government of Lebanon is primarily republican: the president, chosen through the house of representatives, can serve only one term. The religions of Lebanon are primarily Christian and Moslem.

"The United States is the most beautiful country in the world," commented Salim in giving his impression of his host country; and added, "the soil is the most rich and productive in the world."

"In other parts of the world, meat is not eaten three times a day as it is in this country. Social mobility is quite evident here. If a person works hard, he can obtain whatever he desires," Salim said.

Both students have found Americans sociable and friendly but have not made any decisions as to where they will live after graduation.

"To restore the dignity of work is the basic tenet underlying Missouri's new vocational training program."

Thus Mr. Harold Lynch, state supervisor of area vocational schools, keyed his address last Thursday evening at the annual banquet of Pi Omega Pi, honorary business fraternity.

According to Mr. Lynch, through the Vocational Act of 1963, the federal and local governments have worked to provide a four-fold program of area vocational schooling: special vocational high schools, high school vocational education, post high school vocational training institutes, and junior college vocational education departments.

The schools now reach Missouri high school students and adults who are interested in such fields as electronics, cosmetology, auto mechanics, horticulture, nursing aid, and food service. Secretaries and accountants are also trained for business employment.

State schools provide vocational training for the eight out of ten people in Missouri who need it, including the handicapped. The schools are readily able to find jobs for their graduates.

Mr. Lynch, a graduate of NWMSC, displayed maps to show locations of the Missouri training centers.

Rod Beem Is Elected Head of Delta Sigma

Rod Beem, '68, Winterset, Iowa, was elected president of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity Feb. 6.

Also elected were Brian Doty, vice president; Dave Tarwater, secretary; Gary Ditsworth, treasurer; Angel Melendez, engineered leadership director; Ron Vannier, pledgemaster; Gary Howren, sergeant-at-arms; Jess Cole, rush director.

Appointed officers include John Danielson, social chairman; Bob Sloss, corresponding secretary; Dwayne Newland, historian; Garry Stenzel, editor.

Honorees Get Special Awards At Annual Business Banquet

At a recent awards banquet of Pi Omega Pi, honorary business fraternity, three MSC students received awards based on scholarship, departmental classwork, work in Pi Omega Pi, and dependability.

The Outstanding Junior Award went to Carol Bradley. Pledged in 1967-'68, Miss Bradley had participated in many of the activities of Pi Omega Pi. She has a 3.03 departmental grade point average and 3.12 overall grade point average. Miss Bradley received a charm.

Kathy Griffin and Janet Newman received awards as the outstanding senior students of Pi Omega Pi. Their names will be placed on a plaque in the business department.

Miss Griffin, who served as vice-president of Pi Omega Pi this year, was pledged in 1966-'67. She has served on several Pi Omega Pi committees and has been active in many of its activities. Miss Griffin maintains a 3.2 overall grade point average and 3.17 in her departmental classwork.

Miss Newman, who was pledged in 1965-'66, is the current president of Pi Omega Pi. In 1966-'67 she received the Outstanding Junior Award for her participation in Pi Omega Pi and her scholastic achievements. Miss Newman has a 3.78 grade point average in her departmental work and a 3.69 grade point average overall.

Prosecutor to Address Social Science Club

Nodaway County Prosecuting Attorney Gene Thompson will speak to the Social Science Club at 7 p. m. Monday in Colden Hall 213.

Mr. Thompson will discuss "Civil Rights, Police Procedures and the Individual." "All interested people are invited to attend," according to James A. Hurst, assistant professor of social sciences.

83 Seniors Assigned to Instruct In 6 Elementary School Locales

Eighty-three seniors majoring in elementary education are meeting student teacher requirements this semester, according to Dr. Frank Grispino, director of student teaching.

They are teaching in six approved localities: North Kansas City, St. Joseph, Maryville, and Savannah, Mo., and Council Bluffs and Clarinda, Iowa.

College coordinators who supervise student teaching on the elementary level are Dr. James Gleason, Dr. Donald Armstrong, Miss Neva Ross, Mr. Dean Savage, and Miss Jane Costello. They observe students in their teaching situations and advise them concerning problems they encounter.

Elementary student teachers at Horace Mann school on campus are Betty Arnold, Jean Batchelor, Zonia Burnett, Sue Copeland, Barbara Hoover, Ann Lauber, Diana Madison, Kathleen Malone, Alice Maxwell, Mason Michelson, David Newstadt, Susan Rogness, Ruth Ann Rolther, and Lynn Scheller.

Other students are listed after the schools where they are doing student teaching:

Eugene Field Elementary School, Maryville: Sally Agre, Jo Clarke, Judith Climie, Jean Clymens, Nancy Collins, Paula Cummins, Carol Easterhaus, Martha Geyer, Ivanna Griffin, Margaret Hall, Walter Hana-bury, Patricia Hansen, Linda Kendrick, Lynda Larison, Marilyn Loots, Sharon Mead, Connie Norris, Janice Petersen, Connie Rosier, Lorna Stevens, Patricia Tiberghien, Dana Ton-nies, and Cheryl Wilson.

North Kansas City: Patricia Brady, Kay Elder, Julia Hawkins, Jean Holt, Mary Lauhoff, Jeannie McCormick, Mary Ellen Miller, Terrell Olenhouse, Karen Stalker, Carol Stookey, Jean Taake, Patricia Wampler, and Barbara Wilson.

Savannah: Janet Fast, Joyce Jackson, Pearl James, Linda Koenig, Janice Lillard, Kathryn Seabaugh, Cynthia Walker, and Carol Watters.

Council Bluffs: Rochelle Burton, Patricia Chappel, Trudy Dew, Mary Maassen, Beverly Patten, Christena Poole, Gayle Russell, and Connie Schobert.

Clarinda: Judith Adams, Linda Justice, Suzanne Lockett, Marlene Morris, Marlus Paulsen, Marjean Spicer, and Verlee Thraen.

Room Pre-registration Begins in Hudson Hall

Room pre-registration started last week in Hudson Hall for coeds who plan to live in the residence halls during the '68 fall semester.

Upperclassmen, as well as freshmen, will be allowed to live in the dormitory next year, according to Mrs. Dorothy Hildebrand, Hudson director.

Applications for next year's counselor positions are now available from Mrs. Hildebrand. Counselors, who are selected on leadership, scholarship, dependability, and character, must be at least a sophomore next year in order to be eligible.

Three senior women counselors in Hudson will be leaving soon to student teach during the second eight weeks. They are Carol Phillips, Cheryl Wirt, and Sandy Slater.

'Officers School' To Be Sponsored By MSC Senate

The Student Senate will sponsor an "Officers Training School" for all interested students at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the East Ballroom of the Union.

The program is designed to further the leadership abilities of organization officers and, in doing so, better the leadership of campus groups. Dr. Peter Jackson, Senate sponsor, said that the main purpose of the meeting is "to prepare newly elected officers for their role in leadership."

Those attending will be divided into discussion groups for presidents, vice presidents, corresponding secretaries, recording secretaries, treasurers, and social chairmen. One student and one faculty representative will lead each group. Emphasis will be placed on parliamentary procedure and active participation and discussion will be encouraged.

A Senate committee consisting of Jim Neal, Steve Conners, Sue Shew, and Jan Roberts formulated plans for the conference.

Women Honored at Tower Dance

New members of Embers, women's honorary group, were tapped Saturday evening at the Tower Dance. Junior honorees include Nancy Pickett, Wendee Beam, Cheryl Crowley, Mary Asbell, Patricia Schradel, Anne Morgan, Karla Hofer, Jan Wilkes, Susan Bowser, Rhonda Ridnour, Peg Heron, Hila Rankin, and Betsy Thompson.

Anne's attendants are Mary Potter, Kathy Abersold, Vicki Baker, and Marsha Mundt.

AWS to Sponsor General Banquet

The Associated Women Students' executive council will sponsor a banquet Wednesday evening for members of the general council in the Union Ballroom.

The banquet, a first, is the executive council's way of saying "Thank you" to the members of the general council for their help during the year. New officers will also be introduced and installed at the meeting.

Another "first" for AWS is their presentation of an "AWS Outstanding Woman" award. Any woman who has contributed service to the AWS, who has a good scholastic standing, and who possesses leadership qualities is eligible for consideration for this honor. The award will not be given to any woman who is on the general or executive council.

WACS to Model Military Styles

"With Pride and Dignity" is the theme of an army style show to be presented at 4 p. m. Tuesday in the Union Ballroom.

Coordinated by Sgt. Charles Rogers, the show will be presented by a company of five enlisted women. They will model clothes which show the gradual evolution of feminine styles. They will also present an array of uniforms available to the WAC. Included will be their "white tie" dress, a floor-length uniform designed for formal occasions.

The troupe will be presenting a visual and auditory exhibit in St. Joseph at East Hills Shopping Center throughout the coming week. The entire program is keyed to promoting good will and interest in the Women's Army Corps.

There will be no admission charge to the style show.

'Mirage,' 'Flight' Are Week End Features

"Mirage" and "Flight of the Phoenix" are the den movies scheduled for 7 p. m. tonight and Saturday in the Administration Building Auditorium.

Gregory Peck, Diane Baker, and Walter Mathau will star in "Mirage," on Friday evening. In the film, Mr. Peck is trapped on the 27th floor of a blacked-out building. There he is accosted, kidnapped, and flown to the West Indies by complete strangers.

Mr. Peck also gets entangled in a personal mystery concerning amnesia and the nature of man. Peter Stone, author of "Charade," produced this suspense filled story of mystery and intrigue.

Saturday night, James Stewart will have the leading role in "Flight of the Phoenix." It is considered to be a gripping and exciting feature film.

Just when a touch of spring fever strikes the student body, the sky clouds over and sleet strikes. The Stroller queries, "Are we ever going to be done with winter weather?" Disgusted with the snow situation, he wonders how Walkout Day will be held in the drifts?

Earnestly adjusting the color tint knob of the new television set in Hudson's center recreation room, the Stroller personally let curiosity get the best of him.

This is one of the Stroller's more philosophical moments, "If textbooks received the undivided attention which a certain serial does, grades might be higher. This weekday serial attracts 15-20 girls, who seem to need a diversion from their regular activities."

Awaiting the end of the silent period between actives and rushees, a prospective Greek male commented to a bystander last week, "I'm getting married this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Her name? It's not a girl. I'm doing it with a pen and paper."

The Stroller dodged an icy shower and sought warmth under bed covers last Wednesday for an evening's study session in the frosty air of her room. Was it the return for a heat

The Great Montoya Travels Onward: The Spell of His Music Lingers Here

By John Herleman

The crowd was on its feet. Applause resounded throughout the theater. It rang from the walls which only moments before were hushed in awe of a great spectacle, a master at work.

The scene? The Charles Johnson Theater. The crowd? Over 450 members of the student body, faculty, and citizens of the community. The event? A solo concert. The artist? Carlos Montoya, the great flamenco guitarist who is acclaimed the world's greatest flamenco artist.

But what is a flamenco guitarist? What makes him tick? He is an artist of the highest degree. He is motivated by a love of his art and a desire to be the best in his field. His instrument is a priceless masterpiece.

The instrument which Montoya dominates so masterfully is as much an individual as Montoya himself. It was created in Spain in the year 1954. Soon after its completion, the creator died. Montoya has never found its equal. He treasures it as he treasures his life. His hands, or those of his wife are the only ones which touch its delicate surface. Its back is stained from years upon the knees of its master. Its nylon strings are tuned and waiting for the master's touch. It travels with Montoya in a black leather case which is covered with evidences of its journeys. Stickers tell of trips to Rome, Istanbul, and its home in Madrid. It is always by the master's side.

Carlos Montoya, is perhaps one of the most cosmopolitan figures to appear at MSC this year. He came to us from the Eastern United States, stayed a few hours to captivate us with his art, and again was off before the sun had risen. In a few hours he was presenting another concert, this time in Oklahoma City.

Before this month is over he will have traveled as far east as Atlanta, Ga., as far south as Baton Rouge, La., as far north as Chicago, and as far west as Hong Kong! He will present over 100 concerts in the United States alone this year and will present twice that number abroad.

Montoya lives, as he so philosophically commented in his broken English, "On the airplane — it is my home." He will continue to travel, as he has for over 50 years, to present his music wherever he will be heard and his music enjoyed. He lives for the instrument which he calls: "The most difficult instrument in the world."

Letter to Editor

Dear Editors:

Who is Carlos Montoya? Where is he known? Is he only a flamenco guitarist? What is his relation to the field of classical guitar? Do you really know who he is?

I know that he is one of the finest flamenco guitarists in the world, as can be affirmed by his comrades in music. He has achieved enormous fame in Europe as well as the United States. I am sure that upon an even distant investigation one could find a multitude of informative data supporting his enviable career.

My complaint is, why wasn't this done? If the school thinks enough of a celebrity to offer him in concert to its students, then it would follow that the newspaper should fully inform the students of his approaching in a fashion equal to his stature.

— Gerald W. Sisson

Editors' Note:

The editorial board agrees that the guitarist Carlos Montoya and other celebrities should be given detailed coverage in the Northwest Missourian.

The reporters and editors, however, are not always at fault. Occasionally they do not receive early press releases from the Union Board.

In the instance of Mr. Montoya, who was contracted as a replacement after a late cancellation last week, the Union Board did not receive press information until the paper had already been distributed on campus.

Certainly, when the editors have information about Union Board sponsored events, they print it. The Board, likewise, is eager to cooperate with the paper, but in this case the release material arrived on campus too late for use in the last Missourian.

What's Your Stand...

Concerning Drafting of College Students?

"Should college students be drafted?" is a question receiving comment on this campus as at many other U. S. colleges. Several students' answers to the question follow:

Marjorie Vanfossan, freshman, elementary major: "I'm in favor of it. My son finished two years of college with good grades and then enlisted in the Air Force. We need people at home, but let's put first things first. After military service, boys are more mature and ready to settle down and learn."

Leland Carmichael, senior, social science major: "Yes and no. Yes, if they are not tending to business academically and are not serious about goals; no, if they are maintaining a certain grade point average and are serious about earning a degree."

"The people with higher education are going to have to carry the burden of leading our country. As a member of the National Guard, I feel that I am serving my country both militarily and educationally."

Susan White, sophomore, French and Spanish major: "I'm rather prejudiced because my husband is a student. We are hoping that his 2-S classification will hold until he graduates in August, 1969; then he would enlist."

"I do think that other students should be drafted before men with children. I would rather have my husband go than a man with several children."

Robert Brunner, junior biology-chemistry major: "I don't think so, because we have many more people available to go than are needed. Those should be exempted who are likely to benefit the country the most: like teachers for our schools and science and math majors for industry. We know we have a military obligation, but we should be able to finish four years of college first. The military needs college graduates for its leaders, too."

Individuality

Fashion is short hair, long hair, curly hair, boots, sandals, knee socks, no socks, wild prints, and military suits.

On many United States college campuses, the student wears the type of clothes that appeal to him. The way he dresses allows his individuality and personality to express themselves.

Unfortunately, on MSC's campus everyone seems to have consulted the same chart of dress preferences. The majority of female enrollees wear skirts from one to two inches above the knee, sweaters in pastel colors, hose, and ornamented ear lobes. The male species are frequently seen in sport shirts, slacks, and loafers.

Fortunately though, fashions do not always reflect personality. If they did, this campus could not boast of its liberal and individualistic student body.

—Carol Leeper

Sue Calbreath, senior, English major: "I believe that students who maintain a medium to high grade point average should not be subject to the draft. Others should be. Actually, I'm not in favor of any draft right now because I don't believe we belong in Vietnam. We are wasting money and wasting lives."

David Sturm, junior, industrial arts major: "I think the majority of students should not be drafted. Of course, those who are doing poorly and have obviously gone to college to get out of the draft should be subject to the draft. I feel that those young men without a serious criminal record should be drafted. This action would probably supply enough men so that the student who is trying to make something of himself can do it."

Nancy Lobaugh, freshman, accounting major: "I don't believe college students should be drafted. Younger people with a lot of ambition and a goal in life should be able to develop their abilities. They should have the chance to fulfill goals academically, even through graduate school. As technical as the United States has become, we need people with higher education."

Don Bumbacher, senior, physical education major: "No, I don't think so. If college students are drafted, this would undermine the educational system of the country. We shouldn't let down on our drive for more education. I do think that if graduate students are to be drafted, then all college students should be included, regardless of their majors."

Open Letter...

To the Students:

The Student Senate wishes to extend an invitation to all interested students and faculty to attend its Officer Training Conference.

The session will be held in the East Ballroom of the J. W. Jones Student Union at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

The program is designed to further the leadership abilities of organization officers and improve leadership in campus organizations. Better leadership creates better organizations and more efficient meetings.

Discussion groups will be offered for the following officers: president, vice president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, treasurer, and social chairman. The groups will be led by one student and one faculty representative. Active participation and individual discussion will be emphasized.

— Senator Jim Neal

Union Board Asks Students For Proposals

Each year, new, interesting, and popular entertainment comes to MSC, and they are well attended by the student population. We wonder if the majority of the students are aware of the source of these programs?

Most of the entertainment is free, or a nominal fee is charged; however, the speakers, combos, bands, and other groups cost from $100 to $3,000 each. To schedule and pay for these programs is a large undertaking. The Union Board is comprised of students who voluntarily accept the responsibility of scheduling and arranging these numerous activities.

Since the average MSC student apparently does not fully understand the workings of the Board, last week an open Union Board meeting was planned. Board members were ready to answer any questions or to accept any constructive criticism from students. Only three people were interested enough to come to the meeting. Yet, when something does not go exactly right, the uninterested students seem to be the first to complain.

Union Board is trying to stimulate activity on campus and provide interesting entertainment. How can the council please the students when it cannot get them to submit comments, suggestions, and new ideas? The council welcomes all new qualified applicants for posts on its committees and any constructive idea to improve the programs.

Why not help the council — and help your school?

Dozen Lettermen to Compete On Bearcat Baseball Team

Approximately 50 men reported Feb. 19 for the first baseball practice of the season, according to Coach Burton Richey.

Returning lettermen include, pitchers — Scott Kurtz, Don Orlowski, and Don Sears; catchers — Leon Muff and Fred Wise; outfielders — Ben Cain and Dave Ross; infielders — Louis Mooney and Joe Spinello.

Other leading candidates include, pitchers — Joe Calia, Angel Malendez, and David Smith; catcher — Tim Milner; infielders — Coby Lamb and Bob Weyrauch.

Coach Richey remarked that morale has been good. "Barring any serious injuries, we should have a good season," he added.

The Bearcats will play the following schedule:

MSC Thinclads Rout Graceland In First Contest

MSC began its spring sports season Saturday with a 73-9 rout of Graceland College in an indoor track meet held at Lamkin Gymnasium.

Several weeks of practice preparation paid off as Dr. Earl Baker's charges limited the Graceland tracksters to a third place spot in the broad jump, a second place position in the 40-yd. dash, and a first place victory in the shot put.

The win set the number of consecutive Bearcat dual victories at 12 since the middle of the 1966 season.

MSC thinclads will get two more chances to warm up for the MIAA Conference Indoor Meet Mar. 16 at Columbia when they meet Omaha University today and Peru, Neb., State tomorrow.

Sprinters Pete Hager and Normal Howlett are expected to give the 'Cats several one-two finishes in the dashes this season.

Other lettermen have returned: in the hurdles, Marty Schwarz and Ken Shaw; 440-yard dash, Pete-Meinderstma, and distance, Roger Stucki and Ken Kavanaugh.

Hager holds the college record in the 100-yard dash with a :9.5 mark, and Kavanaugh is the school mile record holder at 4:23.6.

Newcomers to the squad are Leroy Hadley, sprints; Clifford Nelles and Charles Gikerson, distances; Jim Sullivan, 440, and Jim Komm, shot put.

Another top returnee for outdoor meets is discus man Gary Hansen.

Dr. Paul Gates is assisting Coach Baker.

- 8—Parsons, Fairfield, Iowa
11—Peru, there
14—Divisional Playoff
17, 18—Conference Championship, north site

All home games will be played in the afternoon.

Ronda Ridnour Chosen Gymnastics President

Ronda Ridnour, Perry, Iowa, recently was elected president of the Gymnastics Club for the coming year.

Other officers chosen were Starla Eads, vice president; Janet Ranniger, secretary; Marda Keller, treasurer; Suzanne Mason, historian, and Lynda White, reporter. Mrs. Janet Moss is the club sponsor.

The Gymnastics Club meets regularly at 6:30 p. m. Thursdays.

'Cat's Eye-View

By Jay McWilliams

Although the Bearcat grapplers were not able to defend successfully their MIAA conference title, congratulations are in order for Paul Stehman, 145; Bill Rex, 152, and Al Borkowski, Hwt., for their individual championships.

Checking the calendar, I notice that the MIAA conference indoor track meet will be held a week from tomorrow. May the team have the good luck to improve its fourth place finish of last year.

This was the week that brought unhappy news for some MSC athletes. Coach Burton Richey made the first cut for the baseball team. Remaining on the squad are nine pitchers, nine outfielders, seven catchers, and ten infielders to prepare for the Mar. 30 opening date against Peru (Neb.) here at MSC.

Wilt Chamberlain is adding his name to the record books again. He recently became the first man ever to score 25,000 points in the NBA.

Does Will have any specific goals now? The bearded giant just grins and drawls, "I would like to lead the league in assists this season."

Norman Howlett, a senior from Kansas City, was the winning coach in Dr. Earl Baker's Kid's Basketball Tournament held the past weeks in Lamkin Gymnasium.

By Joe Fleming
Anyone who travelled with the MSC wrestling team to Cape Girardeau last weekend might have returned home with definite impressions — some good, some less than good.

One would be that Senior Allan Borkowski is one of the finest heavyweight wrestlers in the State of Missouri. Another would be that, overall, the team had a disappointing day, yielding their MIAA conference championship to Kirksville.

Competing with an injury-riddled squad, (Stan Zeamer - shoulder separation; Keith Burge - injured knee ligament; Pat Olheiser - eight stitches in his leg), Maryville was able to do no better than place second with 65 points to Kirksville's 95. SWMSC ended with 61; CMSC, 51, and Cape Girardeau, in the cellar with 33.

Champions for MSC were Borkowski, Bill Rex, 152 lbs., and Paul Stehman, 144 lbs. Although Borkowski registered three pins in three matches with times of 1:21, 3:27, and 7:28, he failed to receive the outstanding wrestler award, won by Curd Alexander, 115, of NEMSC.

Allan Borkowski

Rex won in the final round with an 8-5 decision over John Wilhelm of Springfield, and Stehman, after pinning Bill Graham of Warrensburg in 5:47, won by an 8-5 margin in the final.

BSU Entrants Win State Ping-Pong Meet

Miss Carol Messner and Keith Harmon won first place in a statewide Baptist Student Union Ping Pong Tournament held recently at the University of Missouri.

Miss Messner won first prize in the girls' singles, and the pair won top honors in the mixed doubles. Others from MSC competing in the meet were Dick Stephens, BSU president, and Wayne Kline.

Don Baker, 191, placed third by trouncing Gary Hampel of SWMSC 9-0; Olheiser, 177, took fourth, and Keith Burge, third at 167. Stan Zeamer, 137, fought his way into the finals with a pin and a decision only to be forced to default because of injuries.

Wayne Garcia, 130, took fourth place, and Tom Dawson, 115, pinned his opponent in 3:29 to capture third place.

MSC wrestling representatives will travel to Mankato State College, Mankato, Minn., tomorrow for the NCAA College Division championship. Should they place in the top five teams, they will advance to University competition at Penn State University, Mar. 15.

The college division meet, previously scheduled at Ypsilanti, Mich., was moved to Mankato because of conflicts in scheduling.

Ping-Pong Competition Open to All Students

All enjoying the sport of ping-pong are invited to sign up for the annual BSU ping-pong tournament, Ed Witham, Student Center host, announced Monday.

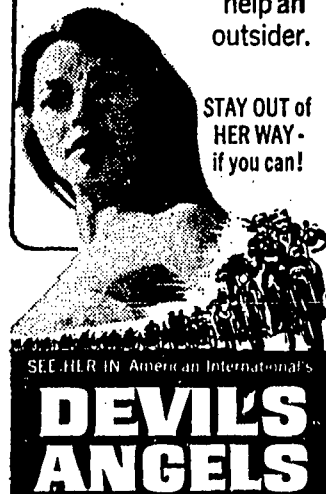

Any student may enter. Men's and women's singles and mixed and open doubles will be featured.

"If you enjoy fellowship, fun, and excitement, sign up now," Witham said.

All games will be played by official rules at the center, 401 W. Fourth St. Registration will continue until Mar. 13. Entrants in men's singles will play from Mar. 17-31. Women will compete in singles from Mar. 24 to Apr. 3, and the tournament will end with the mixed and open doubles Apr. 17-May 1.
